PRIDE AND PROBLEMS

BY EDDIE THE OKAY

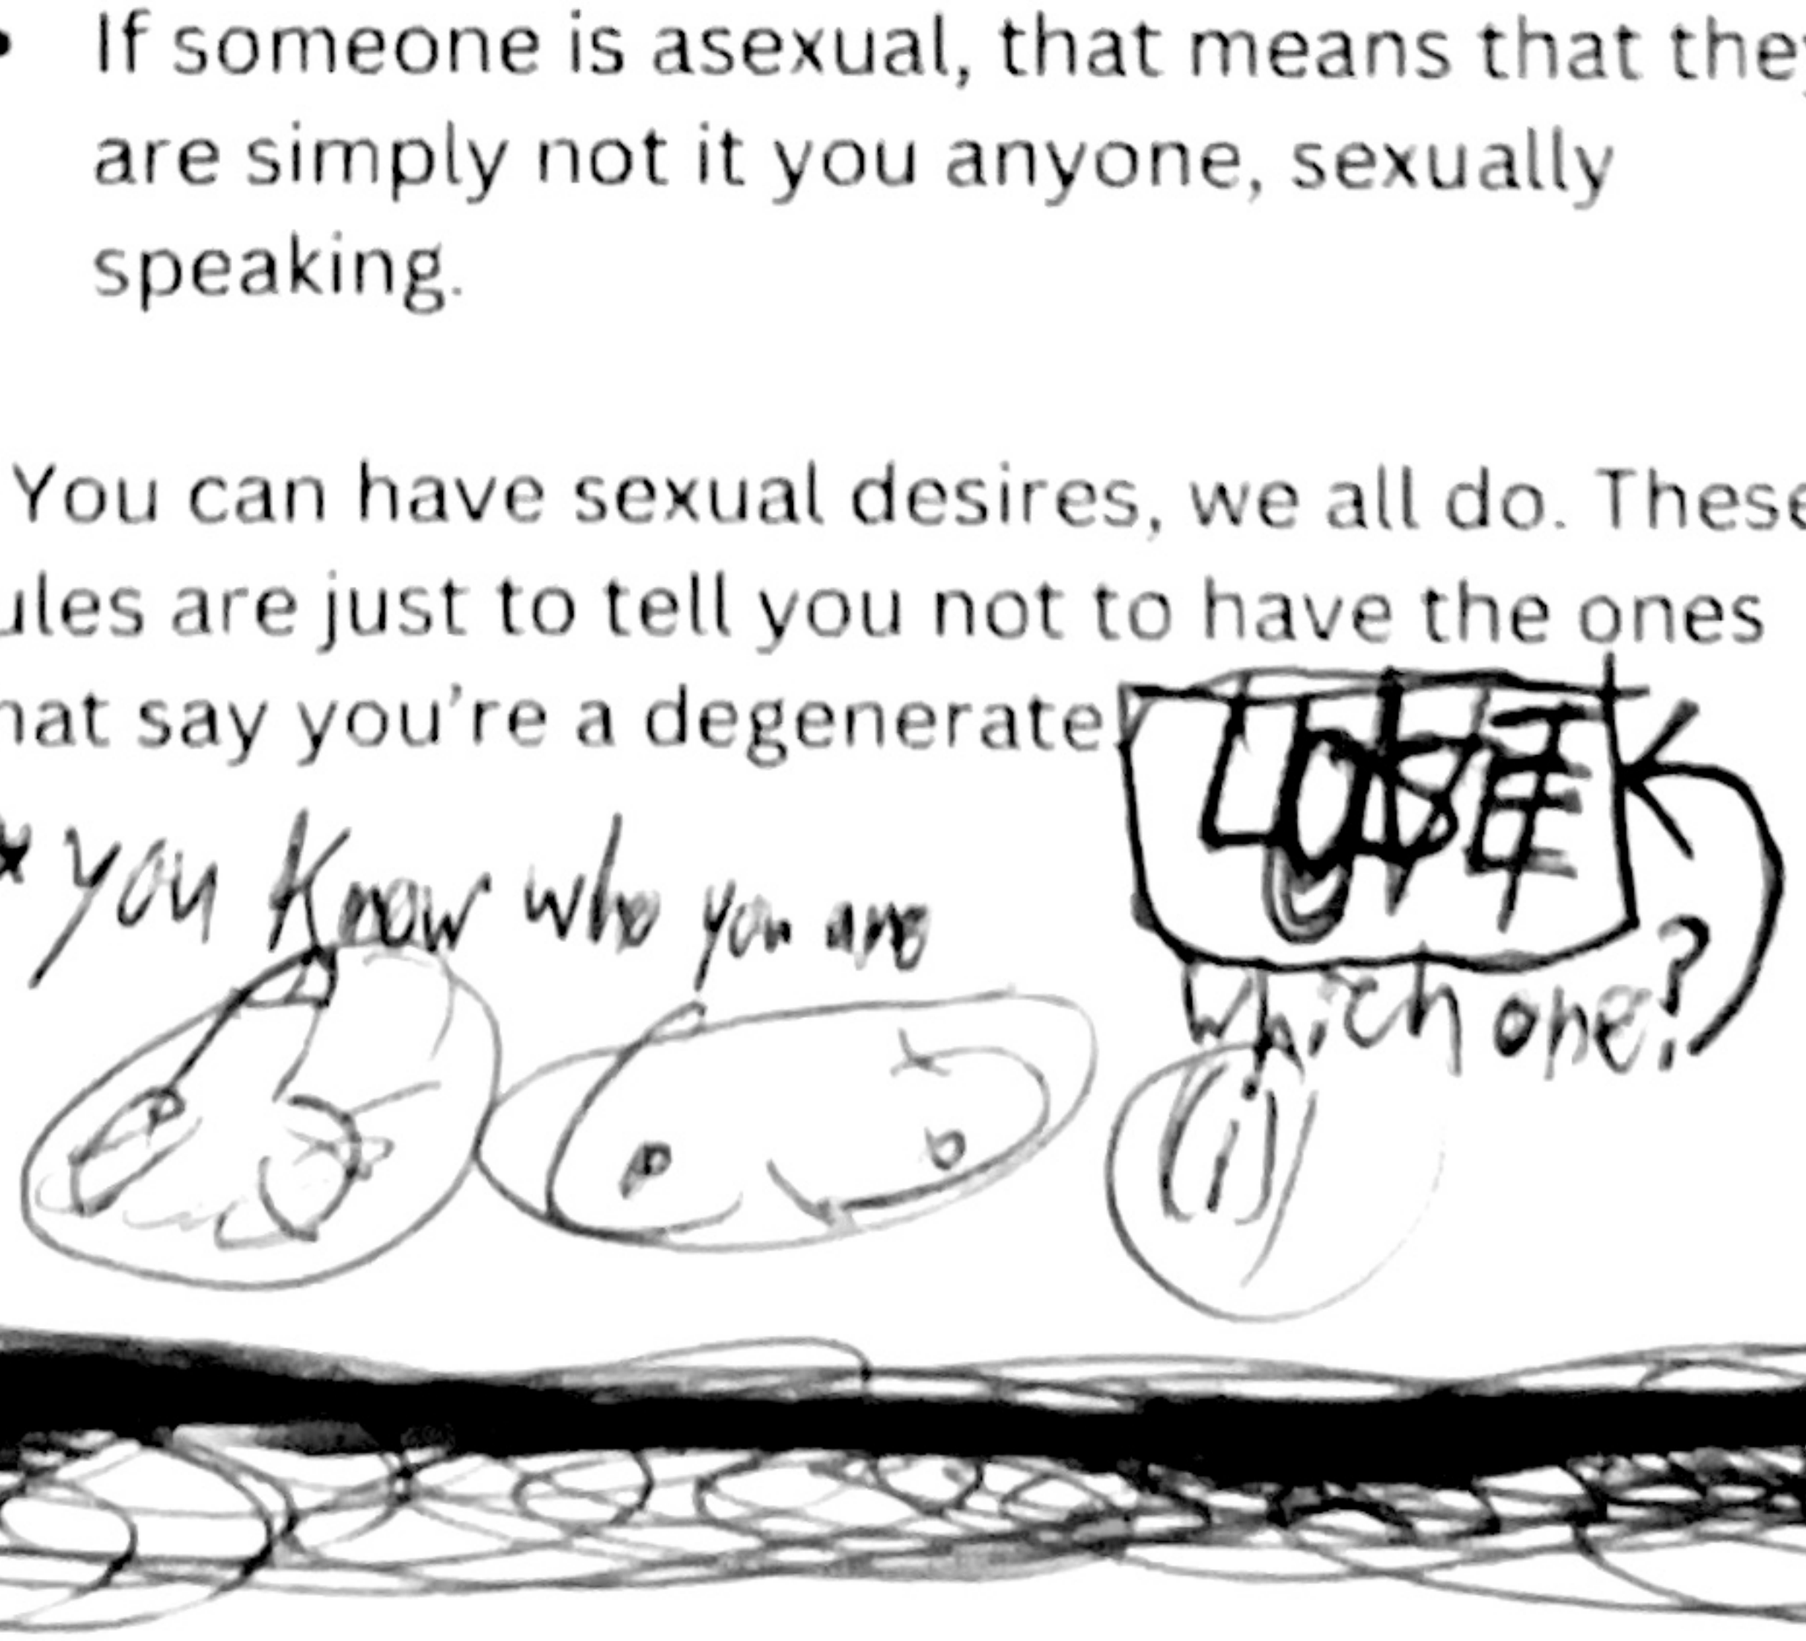
THIS ZINE IS ESPECIALLY NOT FOR KIDS!

False Sexual Expectations

Porn is known to bring people unrealistic expectations. And queer people are no exception. So here are some realistic sexual expectations to keep in mind:

- Lesbians only like women. They don't think it's cute when guys watch them have sex. Nor do they want to have sex with guys. Also fuck you B[redacted] M[redacted], I hope you die alone.
- Not all gay guys are white twinks. So to a gay bar and you're quickly realize that.
- Just because somebody's bisexual or pansexual doesn't immediately mean they want a threesome or anything like that.
- There's more to trans people then what's between their legs. They have lives too you know.
- If someone is asexual, that means that they are simply not it you anyone, sexually speaking.

You can have sexual desires, we all do. These rules are just to tell you not to have the ones that say you're a degenerate.

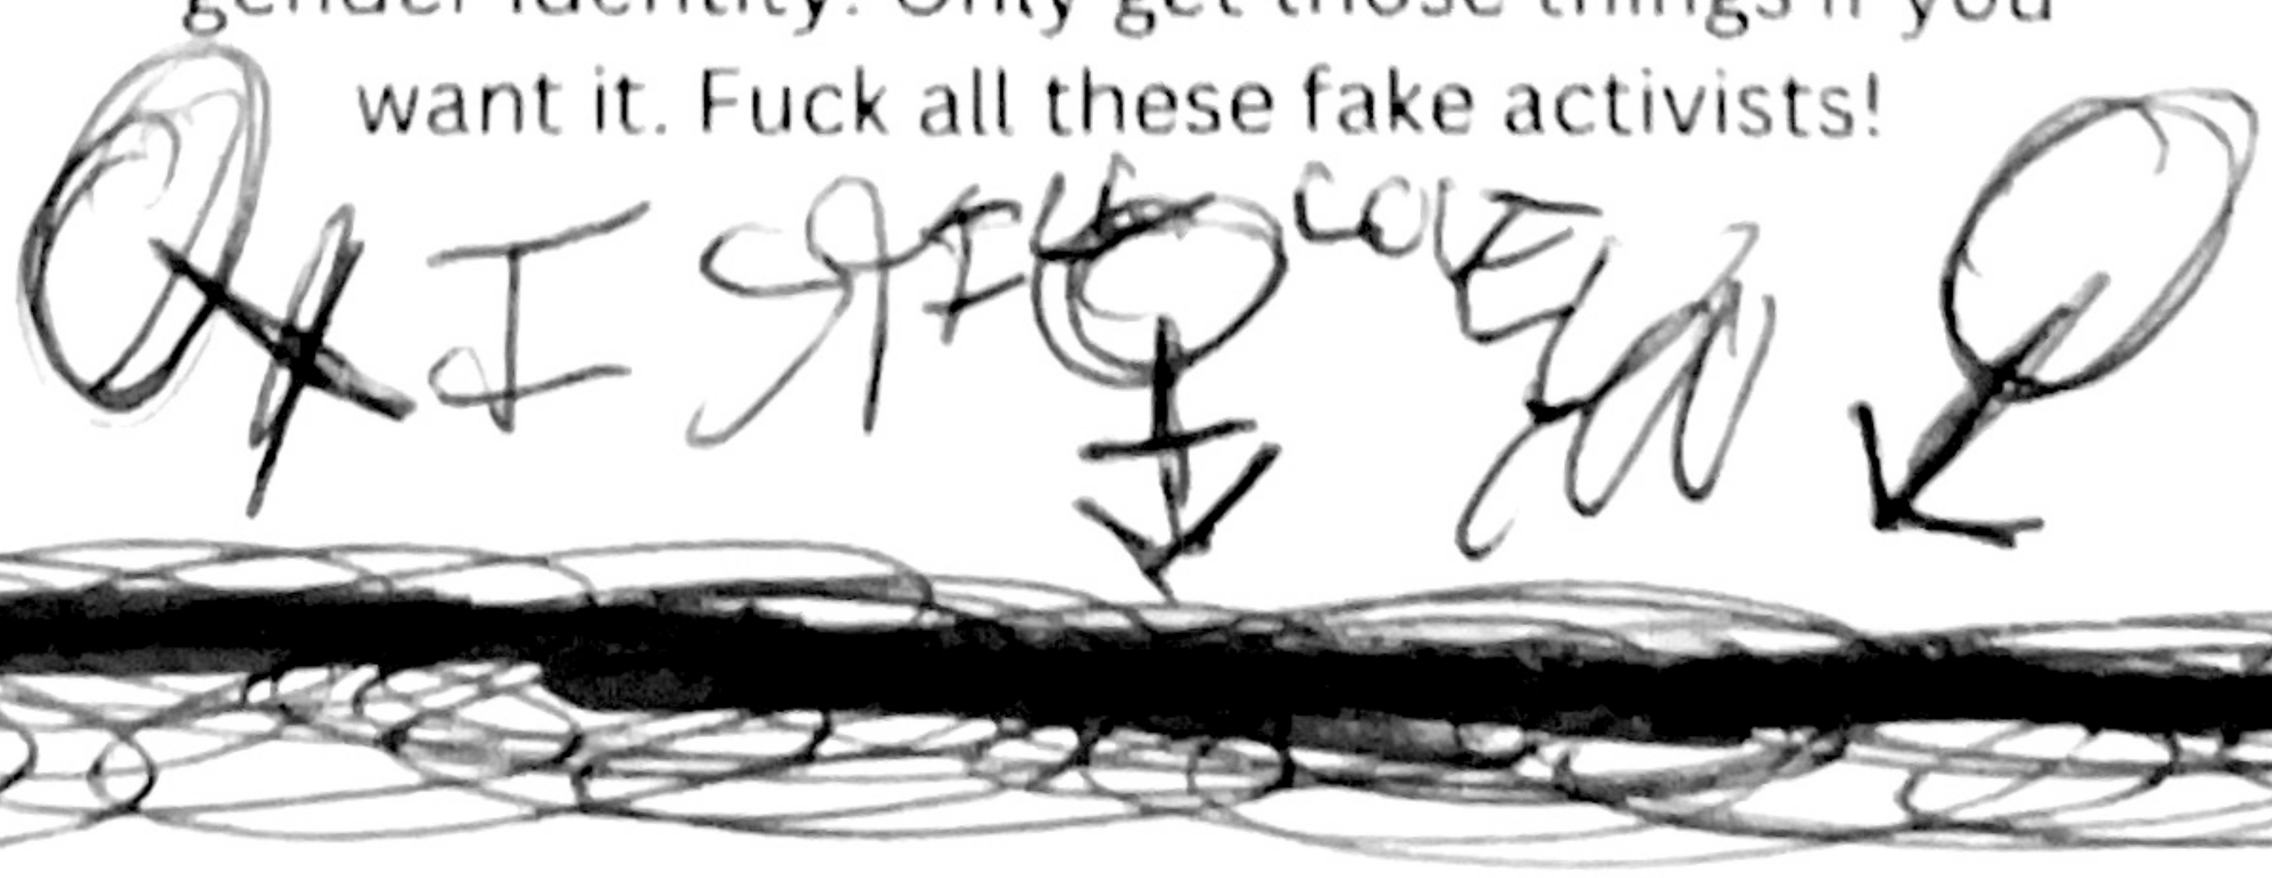


Rampant Transphobia

Now I'm not trans nor am I an expert of trans people. But I know transphobia when I see it. For crying out loud, the only Trump re-election ad I saw on TV was the one that basically said "Vote for me and I'll get rid of those abominations". And the voters cheered on. So fuck everyone who bought it on his stupidity.

And fuck all these bitches that say "Trans rights are human rights", but only care about trans women.
They just brush every other section of the trans community under the rug. And call them "delusional". If you really think that Trans Rights are Human rights, then you would treat all of them with basic dignity and respect. Like the humans they are.

Lastly, fuck these people who only accept trans people as people when they get on HRT or get a sex change. Now you can get those things, but it shouldn't be held as something prove your gender identity. Only get those things if you want it. Fuck all these fake activists!

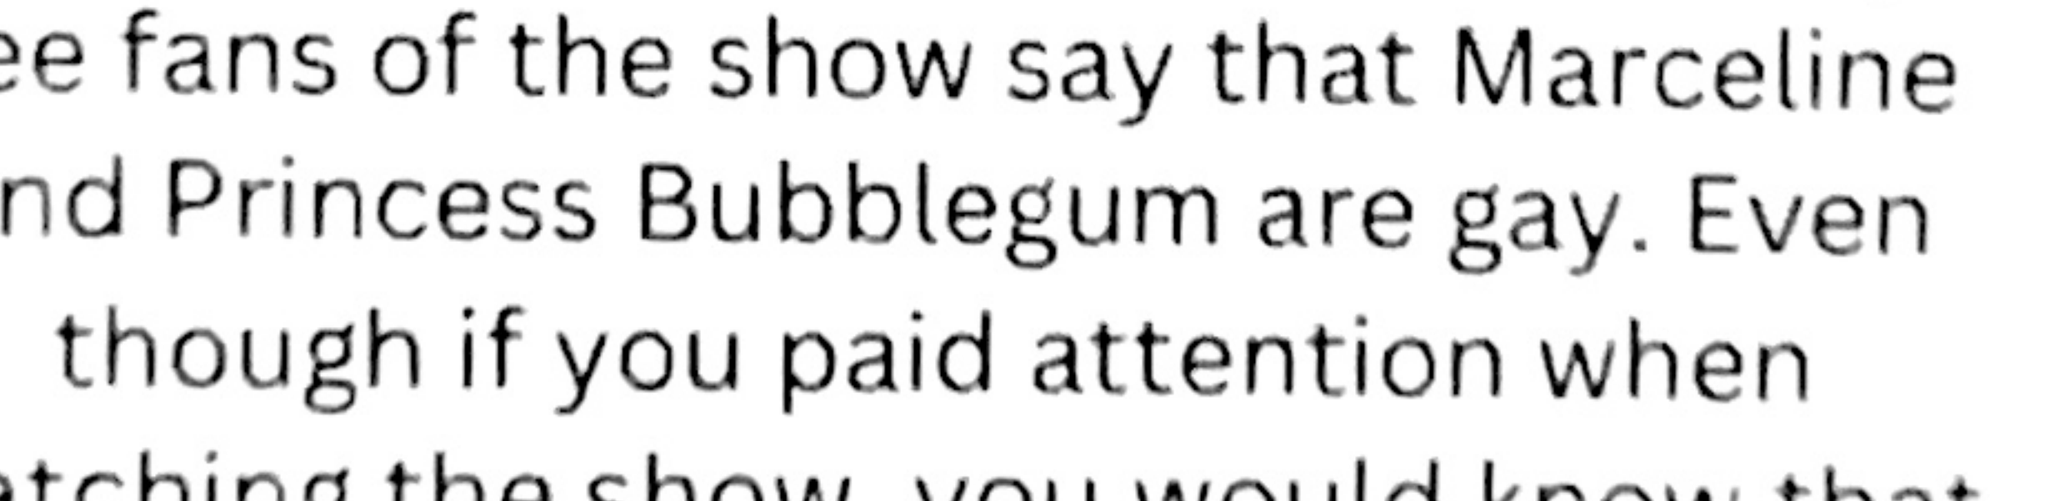


Bisexual ≠ Straight or Gay

Now I've been dealing with this shit since high school. When I came out to my friends as bi, they would still call me gay. And it turns out I'm not alone here.

If you're bisexual and are with the opposite gender, then you're just straight according to most people. And if you're with the same gender, then you're just gay. Either way, people with just say you're confused and in a phase.

This even happens when I'm watching a show like Adventure Time. I constantly see fans of the show say that Marceline and Princess Bubblegum are gay. Even though if you paid attention when watching the show, you would know that they're both bisexual. I thought we watched the same show.



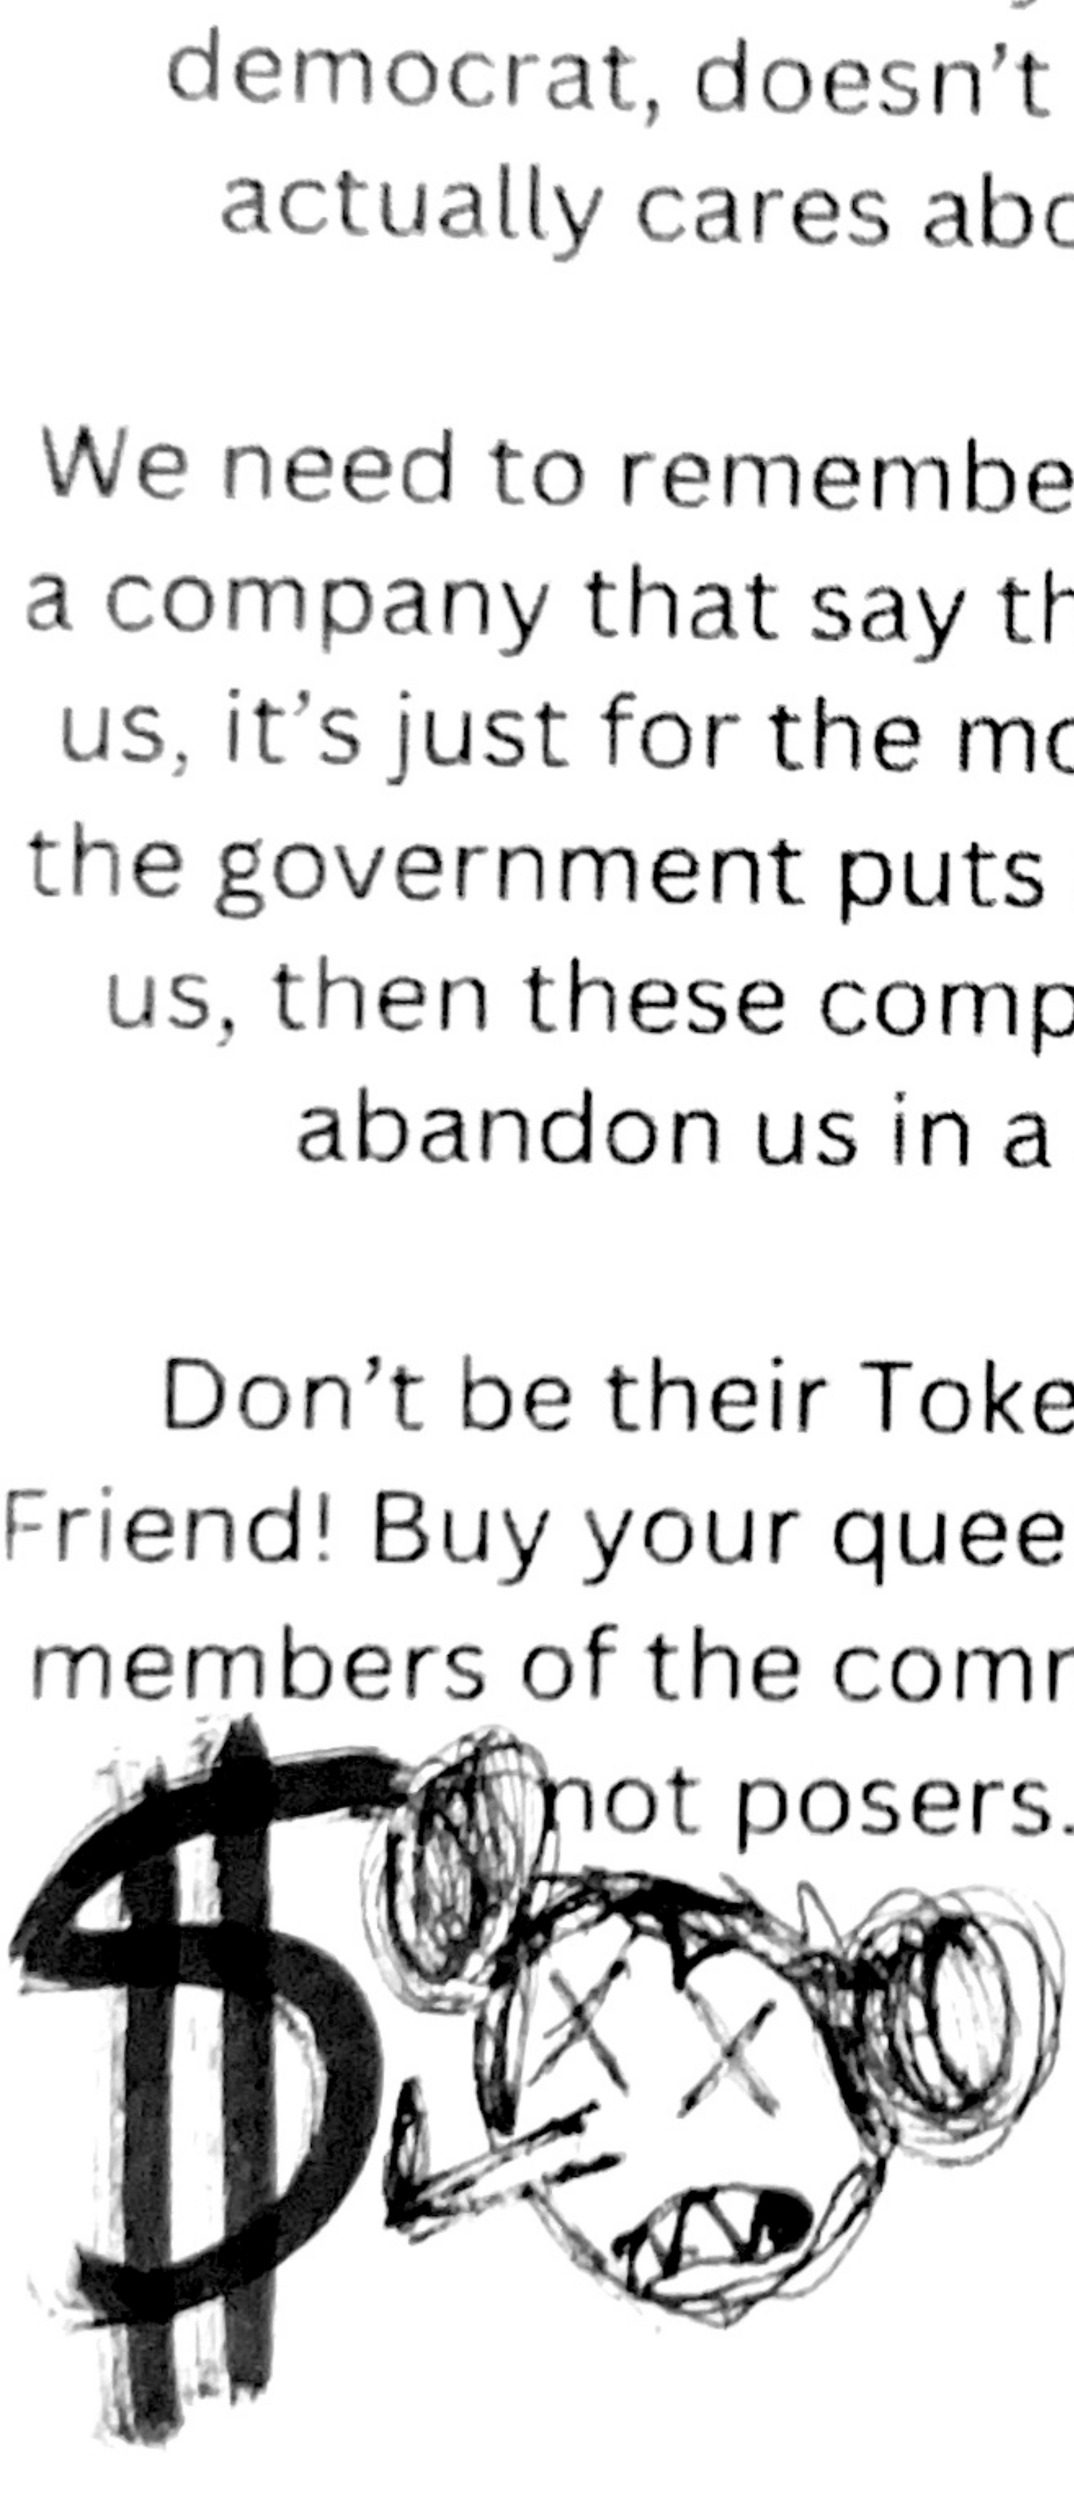
Over Commercialization

If you really thing a company supports LGBTQ because they acknowledged Pride Month, I got news for you:

Just because Mickey Mouse is a democrat, doesn't mean he actually cares about you.

We need to remember that when a company that say they support us, it's just for the month. But if the government puts a kill list on us, then these companies will abandon us in a snap.

Don't be their Token Queer Friend! Buy your queer stuff from members of the community and not posers.



Those Who Oppose

When it comes to those who oppose, it seems good on paper to try to talk things out with them.

I actually did this when I saw a Conservative Christian protesting "us sinners".

Hears what I learned:

Nobody wants their beliefs to be challenged nor do they want to be proven wrong.

They will hold their King James Bibles and call us "fags" that we're just traum victims who need Jesus. Even though most of them will distort Jesus's words as call us "disgraces towards God".

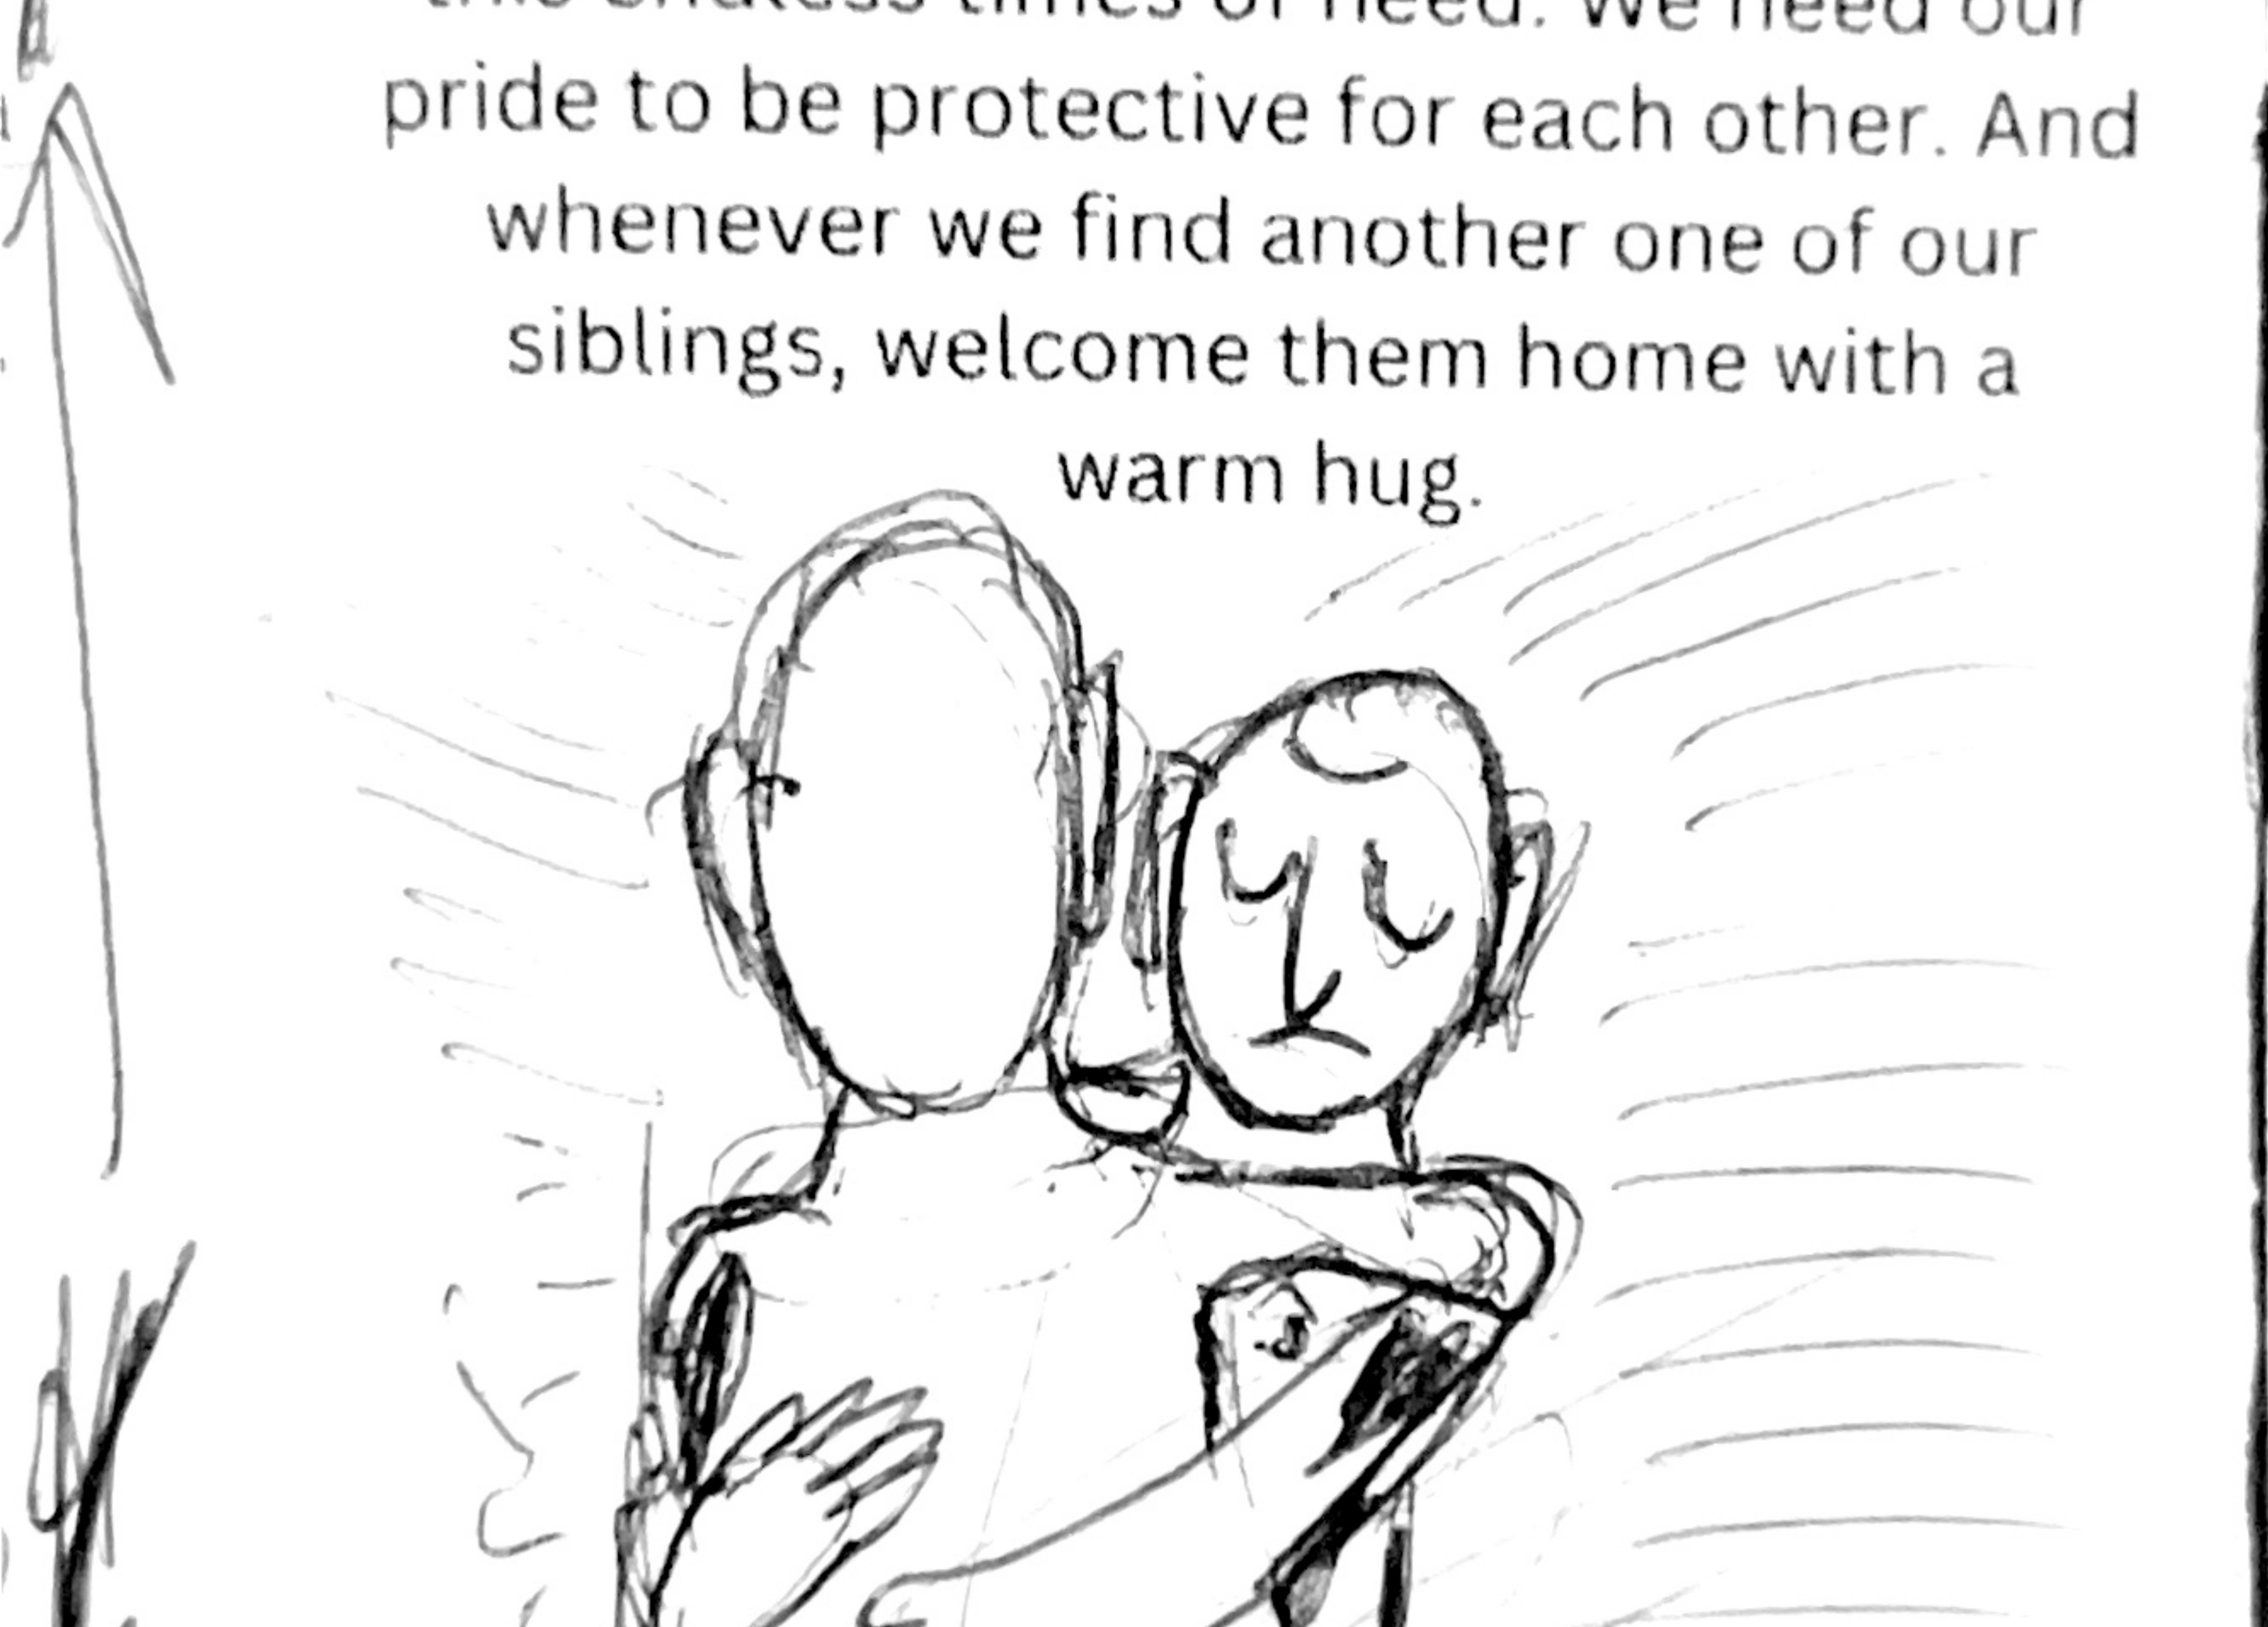
So we're better off just ignoring, boycotting, and bullying them. Don't order from Chick-fil-a, shoplift from Hobby Lobby, you get the idea.

Now for the punchline:
the dude didn't tell me this. He just hates us for being queer.

KILL YOUR DEMONS

Will Things Get better?

Maybe, but don't count on it.
We have rights. But these can be, will be,
and are already being revoked.
What we in the LGBTQ+ community need to do is protect ourselves first. We need to stop putting our fellow siblings down and bring them up. When it comes down to their flaws, we should help them overcome it instead of disowning them. We need to watch each others' backs in this endless times of need. We need our pride to be protective for each other. And whenever we find another one of our siblings, welcome them home with a warm hug.



I SEE BIAS

I could've called this "Dear Cis & Straight People", but we all need to acknowledge what's ~~their problems~~ wrong.
